REPORTS AND RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE COMMISSIONER OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Dr. Clausen said the first portion of her report would highlight individuals who are examples of the positive effect of education and how it has the power to transform lives.

Dr. Clausen introduced Ms. Rhonda Kalifey-Aluise, Executive Director, Knowledge is Power Program (KIPP), a charter group in New Orleans. Commissioner Clausen said this program had a dramatic impact on students in New Orleans after Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Dr. Clausen noted that KIPP currently operates five schools in New Orleans. Dr. Clausen pointed out that this program develops strong school leaders and exposes students to college at an early age with the expectation that students will attend an institution of higher education and earn a college degree.

Ms. Kalifey-Aluise stressed that KIPP's mission is to graduate 1,000 first-generation college graduates by 2022. She also explained that KIPP is a college preparatory, open enrollment, public charter school which prepares the underserved students for success not only in college but also life. Ms. Kalifey-Aluise said plans include 5 additional schools in the New Orleans area by 2012. She then introduced Mr. Brian Dassler who currently serves as the Director of KIPP Through College and will become the principal of KIPP’s Renaissance High School this fall.

Mr. Dassler stated that KIPP is a college readiness program which instills in students the ability to succeed, the ability to persist, and the ability to pay. He noted that the enrollment will be 149 when Renaissance High School opens in the fall, and this is the first high school in Louisiana with a waiting list. He next introduced Ms. Michelle Brooks, a junior at Lutheran High School, who has been a KIPP student.

Ms. Brooks discussed her personal experience as a KIPP student and her recent tour of 10 different colleges sponsored by KIPP. She noted that she was able to participate in an English 101 class during her visit at Northwestern State University. Ms. Brooks said that in class the book that was being discussed was a book she had read while in KIPP and she was able to answer some of the questions. A question and answer period followed.

Regent Roy mentioned that the first KIPP school she visited was in New York and inquired what higher education could do to assist KIPP and other highs schools in Louisiana to educating first-generation college students. Mr. Dassler said it was important to give presentations like today in order to get the information out to other parents and students. Mr. Dassler informed the Board that KIPP school days run from 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and there are also Saturday classes and summer programs.
Dr. Clausen next introduced Mr. Devon Wade, a junior attending Louisiana State University and A&M College (LSU A&M), along with Dr. Drew Arms, Director of Fellowship Advising. She noted that Mr. Wade was one of 60 winners nationwide of the prestigious national Truman Scholarship. Dr. Clausen said Mr. Wade is the only Louisiana recipient this year to win the award. She noted that he is also the first African-American student from LSU A&M and the only student not enrolled in the LSU Honors College to win this award. She mentioned that he works with a group called “No More Victims” which assists children whose parents are in prison.

Mr. Wade mentioned that despite the fact that both his parents were incarcerated as he grew up, he did not let that obstacle keep him from placing education first in his life. He said that even though his ACT score was not the best, the resources provided to him and the staff at LSU A&M helped his dream of being a first-generation college student come true. Mr. Wade said his mother recently graduated from a community college. A brief question and answer ensued. Dr. Clausen noted that the Truman scholarship included $30,000 to be used toward pursuing a graduate degree.

Next, Dr. Clausen recognized Dr. Randy Webb, President, Northwestern State University (NSU), and Dr. Joe Ben Welch, Chancellor, River Parish Community College (RPCC). Dr. Webb introduced Ms. Christine Broussard, who began attending NSU three years ago as a working wife and mother. Ms. Broussard said she thought her challenges would make her goal of graduating unattainable, but in talking with staff at NSU, she learned about an online degree. Ms. Broussard said she graduated in December 2009 and now is enrolled in the Master of Arts in Adult Education.

Dr. Welch introduced Ms. Sherry Luquette, a non-traditional student. Ms. Luquette said that at the age of 40, she was laid off from her job. She said she felt hopeless but enrolled in RPCC and expects to earn her Associate degree next year and then transfer to Southeastern Louisiana University.

Dr. Clausen stated that today’s students represent those whose lives have improved by placing education first, but the work of the Board of Regents continues for those trying to achieve their dreams of college graduation. She said that today approximately 500 middle school students are at Louisiana Tech University learning about a new online tool to help middle and high school students to prepare for and attend college. Commissioner Clausen said the online tool is a website (www.KnowHow2GoLouisiana.org) funded by a College Access Challenge Grant through the U.S. Department of Education. She said a video of this event will be shown to the Board at a later date.

Dr. Clausen stated that the campaign pushes students to: (1) plan for college and enlist adult support, (2) focus on their academic preparation, (3) research to find the college that is right for them, and (4) find financial aid and scholarships. She said that Louisiana is one of 15 states participating in the “Know How to Go” campaign in partnership with the Lumina Foundation, Ad Council and American Council on Education.

Dr. Clausen updated the Board on the following items:

1. Met with system heads, Governor’s staff and legislators regarding budget and legislative session

3. Articulation update and Legislative Hearings regarding Senator Nevers’ bill to strengthen the Regents

Dr. Clausen introduced Ms. Beth Courtney, President and Chief Executive Officer, Louisiana Public Broadcasting; Mr. Donald Vandal, Executive Director, Louisiana Optical Network Initiative; and Ms. Connie Koury, General Council, Board of Regents. Ms. Koury briefly explained the history of LONI.

Mr. Vandal noted that LONI is a state-of-the-art, fiber optics network that runs throughout Louisiana and connects Louisiana and Mississippi research universities to one another. He said the Louisiana Public Broadcasting (LPB) partnership will extend LONI's network.

After further discussion,

On motion of Regent Guichard, seconded by Regent D’Aquin, the Board unanimously voted to approve amending the Louisiana Optical Network Initiative (LONI) Management Council membership to include Louisiana Public Broadcasting.
