THE CENTER FOR ADULT LEARNING IN LOUISIANA (CALL) STRATEGIC PLAN PRESENTATION

Dr. Tremblay introduced Mr. Luke Dowden, Executive Director of the Center for Adult Learning in Louisiana (CALL) to discuss the strategic plan for the Center and seek the Board’s approval. Dr. Tremblay noted the mission of the Center is to provide a focused and centralized infrastructure to enhance adult learning opportunities for citizens of the state through expanded programs and services offered by public higher education institutions. He next provided a brief history of the Center. It began as an initiative in northwest Louisiana in Fall 2006 with 2 institutions -- Bossier Parish Community College and Northwestern State University. In 2007 four additional institutions were added to the Center -- McNeese State University, Louisiana State University at Eunice, Southeastern Louisiana University, and the University of Louisiana at Monroe. The Center launched its first Adult Learning Campaign with the assistance of the Southern Regional Education Board (SREB). He noted that 45 graduated from CALL programs in May 2008. Last summer, the Board approved restructuring the consortium into the Center and established the Center’s operations at the Learning Center of Rapides Parish in Alexandria (LCRP). To date, there have been 150 graduates from CALL’s fast-track programs.

Mr. Dowden stated that it was an honor to have served the Regents over the past year as the Executive Director. He said he would present a national, southern regional and state perspective on adult learning. He noted that online enrollments are not slowing down. Louisiana, Kentucky and Oklahoma are the leading models in the Southeast United States region in adult learning.

Mr. Dowden then introduced Dr. Bruce Chaloux, Director of Student Access Programs and Services, at SREB.

Dr. Chaloux informed the Board that there are two states in the SREB region – Kentucky and Oklahoma – where more money and time has been spent in this initiative but they have not had as good a result as Louisiana. He applauded the efforts and support of the Regents, Dr. Tremblay, Mr. Dowden and the 6 institutions for CALL’s success. He said the nation must do a better job of attracting students who finished high school but never completed their college degree back into postsecondary education. There is no state in the country that has 50 percent of its working age adults with at least an associate degree or higher. He remarked that the CALL model works, and other states want to look at the model.

Mr. Dowden reminded the Regents that part of the approval of CALL was its charge to return in one year and present a working plan for Board approval. He proceeded to discuss the ten Strategic Plan elements: (1) Mission Critical Components; (2) Role of CALL; (3) Governance and Administration; (4) Program Expansion; (5) Budget Considerations; (6) Evaluation; (7) Prior Learning Assessment; (8) Adult Learning Campaigns
Dr. Tremblay concluded, that simply speaking, CALL is a strategic investment to attract, enroll, retain and graduate more Louisiana adult learners, and the Center’s annual report was in the Board packet today.

Board members followed with questions and answers. Regent Bollinger requested that Louisiana hire the best professors for on-line courses to entice more CALL participants, and this could prove to be cost-effective for the state. Dr. Tremblay said it is important to identify faculty that are willing to redesign courses and assume an additional load of teaching.

Regent D’Aquin inquired about the Adult Literacy Program. Dr. Tremblay noted there is no GED component of CALL at the moment, but Dr. Clausen said outreach to the GED programs is possible.

Regent Roy inquired about the kind of degree programs of the 150 graduates. Mr. Dowden said the students have pursued general studies, business administration, computer information systems, nursing and criminal justice. Ms. Roy agreed with Ms. Bollinger that it is important to hire the best lecturer in a particular course and have them teach every student on-line in the state for that particular course. Dr. Clausen said this has been looked at for some time, and Louisiana has some of the better professors that choose to teach on-line.

On motion of Regent Klein, seconded by Regent Bollinger, the Board voted unanimously to adopt the Strategic Plan for the Center for Adult Learning in Louisiana (CALL) as presented.

REPORTS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMISSIONER OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Dr. Clausen shared a power point presentation that was presented on April 21, 2009 to the House Appropriations Committee. She said in the past two weeks there have been 93 newspaper articles, 41 opinion pieces and 9 letters written to the editors on the gun bill, tuition bill, and articulation. She thanked the Council for a Better Louisiana (CABL) and Public Affairs Research, Inc. (PAR) for being great support groups. Some of the items discussed were:

- Jobs by Education Level -- In 1973, only 28% of existing jobs required postsecondary education, and today more than two-thirds of new jobs will require postsecondary education;
- The United States will have 3 million more jobs requiring a bachelor’s degree and there are not enough graduates to fill them;
- Workforce Demographics Shift - White 4%; Black 28%; Hispanic 70%; Asian 73%; and
- Louisiana Postsecondary Education - State funding per FTE student; tuition fee revenue per FTE student; total funding per FTE student;

Dr. Clausen then discussed Louisiana’s return on investment. She noted the following:

- The number of students graduating from high school with CORE has increased from 56.5% in 2003 to 65.8% in 2007;
- ACT average scores of first-time freshmen have gone up from 19.4 in 1996 to 20.7;
- Fewer first-time freshmen are enrolling in developmental education courses at four-year institutions;
- Graduation rates have increased at four-year institutions;
- Educational attainment for all racial/ethnic groups would increase annual personal income in Louisiana;
- Degrees awarded at public institutions have increased; and
- Dual enrollment has been a success.

Dr. Clausen also noted that Louisiana has received an A for its “21st Century Teaching Force” and for being a pace setter in redesigning principal preparation programs. Louisiana higher education progress has improved in the following areas:

- High school graduation rates
- Chance for college
- ACT scores
- Retention rates
- Graduation rates
Dr. Clausen said that 2,401 low-completer programs have been reviewed with 864 programs terminated. She continued by stating that higher education is committed to increasing the number of students who transfer from Louisiana’s community colleges to its four-year institutions. A projected budget reduction of $219 million for FY 2009-10 will seriously jeopardize this commitment.

Dr. Clausen said that Ms. Anna Beggs, a senior student at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette (ULL), who was accompanied by other students, wanted to offer public comments to the Board regarding the elimination of the Philosophy program at ULL. Since this item was not on the agenda, Dr. Clausen offered to let the students speak at the end of the meeting. Ms. Beggs expressed concern from students and community leaders that cutting ULL’s Philosophy program is a mistake. She said that “Philosophy, as the core and origin of the traditional liberal arts, is essential to the University.” The elimination of the program is inconsistent with the University’s mission statement.

She remarked that the B.A. in Philosophy is and has been a low-completer program, but nationwide, the number of B.A.’s in Philosophy and Religious Studies has increased over the past decade. She said growth in this program at ULL has increased from 5 students in 1992 to thirty-one students currently.

Ms. Beggs requested that the Board of Regents reconsider the decision to cut the program, not only for the sake of ULL’s current and future students, but also for the sake of the University as a whole and for the value of philosophy itself.

Regent Roy, as Chair of the Academic Affairs Committee, thanked Ms. Beggs for representing the ULL students in the Philosophy program at the university. She said the Board has had to make some painful decisions due to the current budget crisis. She encouraged the students to contact their elected officials and let them know the impact these budgetary concerns will have on their lives. She urged them not to give up on getting their degree no matter what happens.

Dr. Joseph Abraham, President of the American Public School Endowments, asked what savings would come from cutting the program. Ms. Roy said it is difficult to estimate the short-term cost of cutting the program, but over the long-term, it will save money. Six hundred fifty-eight (658) programs are being reviewed and 87 have been terminated, so this has to save money. Dr. Abraham said this country does not exist without philosophy. This is the only philosophy program in the University of Louisiana System. He said there is no proven savings and would like to see this program continue.

Chair Terrell said what affects the students is very important to this Board, but the data provided causes the Regents to have to make tough decisions. Commissioner Clausen thanked Dr. Abraham and the students for appearing before the Regents today. There was no action that on this matter.
Dr. Clausen informed the Board that Mr. Gene Fields, Associate Commissioner for Information Services and Data Management, has accepted a new position at the University of Louisiana Lafayette as the Chief Information Officer. Mr. Fields was instrumental in creating comprehensive data systems for the Board of Regents. She congratulated Mr. Fields for his years of dedicated service to the Regents and noted he would remain a valuable partner in education. Mr. Fields has generously offered to assist in training the individual selected for his position.

OTHER BUSINESS

Regent Bruno distributed several newspaper articles regarding facility planning on campuses. He also had questions about the status of an advisor at Southern University-New Orleans. Regent Terrell stated that the Board would follow-up on the two items.

Chair Terrell said the Board of Regents received some high profile support from business and community leaders across the state who are concerned about the deep cuts to higher education proposed in the state budget. He said that copies of letters from business and community leaders in support of Senate Bill 335 were in today’s Board packet. It was noted that the Senate Finance Committee would convene at 1:00 p.m. for public comment on education. Board members were invited to attend.

ADJOURNMENT

There be no further business to come before the Board, Regent Terrell adjourned the meeting at 11:10 a.m.
